1.0 Background

Town Development Fund (TDF), an autonomous entity, functions as a financial intermediary institution for the development of urban infrastructures in Nepal. It provides financial support to municipalities and emerging towns to implement social and revenue generating projects. It also supports to strengthen the technical, managerial and financial capabilities of municipalities in formulation, implementation and evaluation of urban development plans and programs.

TDF aims to alleviate economic and social poverty in urban sector through long-term financing in social and revenue generating infrastructure projects. It aspires to mobilize blended finance alternatives and strives to offer long-term infrastructure finance solutions through its techno-financing experience, innovations, and by continuously upgrading its institutional capacity.

TDF wants to strengthen local authorities and the TDF to foster local economic development and climate resilient investment through blended financing. TDF intends to apply TDF internal fund for preparation of Develop Local Economic Development Framework and Building Institutional Capacity of Partnering Local Level by engaging consulting firms.

1.1 Local Economic Development

Local Economic Development (LED) is widely recognized as a critical strategy for poverty reduction and inclusive economic growth. At its core, LED seeks to generate sustainable employment by strengthening and expanding the local economy. This requires the promotion of entrepreneurship, the establishment of new businesses and industries, and the expansion of existing economic activities within the municipal area. By stimulating local production and value

addition, LED enhances income generation and improves livelihoods, particularly for low-income and vulnerable populations.

Within the framework of Integrated Development Planning (IDP), LED must be treated as a cross-cutting priority. The formulation of LED strategies requires active collaboration among key municipal stakeholders, including local government, the private sector, civil society, and community representatives. Through participatory planning and joint decision-making, municipalities can identify comparative advantages, mobilize resources, and implement targeted interventions that stimulate economic growth and broaden access to income-earning opportunities, especially for the poor and marginalized.

The federal government plays a strategic role in creating an enabling environment for LED by formulating policies, mobilizing financial resources, supporting research and innovation, and providing technical assistance. While municipalities retain the authority to design and adopt LED frameworks suited to their local contexts, the process of developing such frameworks must be fully integrated into the IDP process to ensure coherence with broader development goals and sectoral plans.

LED frameworks should be aligned with the long-term vision articulated in the IDP and grounded in a robust analysis of local economic conditions, development constraints, and priority needs. These frameworks should address spatial and infrastructure considerations, such as integrating residential and employment areas, developing economic and transport corridors, and strengthening public transport systems to improve access to markets, jobs, and services. Such spatial integration enhances productivity, reduces transaction costs, and supports balanced territorial development.

National and provincial governments have a complementary responsibility to support municipalities in developing and implementing effective LED frameworks through capacity building, funding mechanisms, coordination support, and policy guidance. In this context, the Provincial and Local Government Support Programme (PLGSP) has identified key principles that underpin effective LED implementation:

1. Poverty and unemployment constitute the most pressing development challenges in Nepal; therefore, LED frameworks must prioritize employment creation and poverty alleviation.
2. LED interventions should deliberately target disadvantaged groups, marginalized communities, and lagging geographic regions, with a strong emphasis on economic empowerment, inclusive enterprises, and the promotion of Small, Micro, and Medium Enterprises (SMMEs).
3. There is no universal model for LED; each locality should adopt an approach that reflects its unique socio-economic conditions, resource base, and development potential.
4. LED emphasizes local ownership, community participation, strong local leadership, and shared decision-making to ensure sustainability and accountability.
5. LED depends on partnerships at local, national, and international levels, involving government, the private sector, and communities to address development challenges, foster innovation, and create joint economic ventures.
6. LED builds on local resources, skills, and knowledge, maximizing endogenous development opportunities.
7. LED requires the integration of diverse economic initiatives into a coordinated and inclusive local development strategy.

8. LED must remain flexible and adaptive to respond effectively to changing local, national, and global economic conditions.

2.0 Purpose and rational of the assignment:

PART II

Section 8. Conditions of Contract and Contract Forms

Foreword

1. Part II includes standard Contract forms for Consulting Services (a Lump-Sum Contract).
2. Lump-Sum Contract: This type of contract is used mainly for assignments in which the scope and the duration of the Services and the required output of the Consultant are clearly defined. Payments are linked to outputs (deliverables) such as reports, drawings, bill of quantities, bidding documents, or software programs. Lump-sum contracts are easier to administer because they operate on the principle of a fixed price for a fixed scope, and payments are due on clearly specified outputs and milestones. Nevertheless, quality control of the Consultant's outputs by the Client is paramount.
